

One for the Dads

by Mark Buckton

The NSK has recently installed folding down tables in the mecca of sumo - the Ryogoku Kokugikan - ideal for those with kids in nappies/diapers but rather than the tables in question being in the female toilets (they already had them)

the latest addition to bringing sumo's main stadium in line with societal norms are to be found in the Gents Restrooms - leaving all the sumo fan dads out there with no excuse against taking along a little 'un and enjoying the sumo together.
